

Key

External Power

Power

Wireless Signal

Wired Signal

Main board

Block

LAN

Introduction:

This diagram shows the relationship between the different blocks that appear in the Feature List. The dashed line represents a device boundary. An interface will need to be defined for any signal that crossed the boundary. Blocks that touch the boundary are access able from the outside of the device